As Emma sets foot on the sandy dunes of the Sahara Desert, she discovers a hidden world that pulses with magic and mystery. Here, amid the golden hues of the desert and the whispers of the wind, she meets a rugged and enigmatic stranger - Omar.

Omar is a nomadic storyteller with eyes that seem to hold a thousand secrets. Captivated by his presence, Emma finds herself irresistibly drawn to him. Together, they embark on a mesmerizing journey that takes them from the heart of the desert to the rugged coastlines where the Atlantic Ocean crashes against the land.

The novel immerses readers in the rich tapestry of Moroccan culture, effortlessly transporting them to bustling marketplaces, aromatic spice stalls, and labyrinthine alleyways. Thompson's vivid descriptions allow readers to taste the tang of freshly brewed mint tea, feel the warmth of the desert sun on their skin, and hear the sounds of traditional music floating through the air.

But "Where The Desert Meets The Sea" is not merely a tale of adventure and exotic locales. At its core, it is a story about love, both romantic and self-discovery. Emma's journey through the magical landscapes of Morocco becomes a metaphorical exploration of her own desires, fears, and aspirations.

Thompson masterfully balances the elements of romance, suspense, and personal growth, creating a narrative that is as engaging as it is evocative. As readers delve deeper into the pages of this novel, they will find themselves on an emotional rollercoaster, experiencing joy, heartbreak, and everything in between.

The author's skillful storytelling is evident in the way she seamlessly blends the cultural aspects of Morocco into the narrative. From henna-dyed hands to mesmerizing belly dances, the traditions and customs of Morocco become integral parts of the story, adding depth and authenticity.

An illuminating and heart-stirring historical novel set in post-WWII Palestine, where the boundaries of love and friendship are challenged by the intractable conflicts of war.

Jerusalem, 1947: Judith, a young Jewish survivor of the Dachau concentration camp, arrives in Mandatory Palestine, seeking refuge with her only remaining relative, her uncle. When she learns that he has died, she tries to take her own life in despair.

After awakening in the hospital, Judith learns that Hana, a Muslim Arab nurse, has saved her life by donating her own blood. While the two women develop a fragile bond, each can't help but be drawn deeper into the political machinations tearing the country apart. After witnessing the repeated attacks inflicted on the Jews, Judith makes the life-changing decision to join the Zionist fight for Jerusalem. And Hana's star-crossed love for Dr. David Cohen, an American Jew out of his element and working only to save lives, will put her own life in danger.

Then the political situation worsens. When tensions erupt, a shocking act of violence threatens Judith and Hana's friendship—and the destinies of everyone they love.
